

Communication Arts, Definite Term Lecturer in Communication Studies

The Department of Communication Arts (https://uwaterloo.ca/communication-arts/) in the Faculty of Arts (https://uwaterloo.ca/arts/) at the University of Waterloo (https://uwaterloo.ca/) is seeking an exceptional lecturer for one three-year position at the rank of Definite Term Lecturer in the area of Communication Studies beginning July 1, 2022.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Communication Studies or an equivalent discipline. Evidence of excellent teaching and commitment to service is required. Duties include teaching seven courses per academic year in the fall, winter, and spring terms (80% of the appointment); and various service and administrative responsibilities (20% of the appointment). Strong candidates will be able to integrate theory and practice in courses and have experience teaching communication courses to students from disciplines or areas outside of Communication Studies. Demonstrated excellence in undergraduate teaching, a commitment to experiential learning, experience liaising with university faculty and staff, and familiarity with diverse groups of students will be assets.

The salary range for this position at the Lecturer rank is $70,000 to $100,000. The closing date for applications is January 4, 2022. Application materials must be submitted as PDF files through the Online Faculty Application System (https://ofas.uwaterloo.ca/). Please include electronic copies of a cover letter, curriculum vitae and teaching statement and arrange to have three letters of reference uploaded. Applicants are encouraged to identify the ways their teaching, research and service advances equity, anti-racism, and inclusion.

The University of Waterloo acknowledges that much of our work takes place on the traditional territory of the Neutral, Anishinaabeg and Haudenosaunee peoples. Our main campus is situated on the Haldimand Tract, the land granted to the Six Nations that includes six miles on each side of the Grand River. Our active work toward reconciliation takes place across our campuses through research, learning, teaching, and community building, and is centralized within our Office of Indigenous Relations (https://uwaterloo.ca/indigenous).

The University values the diverse and intersectional identities of its students, faculty, and staff. The University regards equity and diversity as an integral part of academic excellence and is committed to accessibility for all employees. The University of Waterloo seeks applicants who embrace our values of equity, anti-racism and inclusion. As such, we encourage applications from candidates who have been historically disadvantaged and marginalized, including applicants who identify as Indigenous peoples (e.g., First Nations, Métis, Inuit/Inuk), Black, racialized, people with disabilities, women and/or 2SLGBTQ+.

The University of Waterloo is committed to accessibility for persons with disabilities. If you have any application, interview or workplace accommodation requests, please contact Rina Salazar at <mailto:admin.cxarts@uwaterloo.ca>.

If you have any questions regarding the position, the application process, assessment process, or eligibility, please contact Dr. Grit Liebscher at <mailto:gliebesch@uwaterloo.ca>.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

Three reasons to apply: <https://uwaterloo.ca/faculty-association/why-waterloo>.