

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor Position in Exercise Prescription and Sport Performance

Position # 002369TT-2022-HK

The University of Windsor's Department of Kinesiology in the Faculty of Human Kinetics invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of Exercise Prescription and Sport Performance, commencing July 1, 2022. This position is subject to final budgetary approval.

A medium-sized university with a solid reputation in teaching and research, the University of Windsor offers a friendly and supportive environment for both living and learning. It is Canada's southernmost university and its location on the Canada-US border provides unique cultural, recreational and educational opportunities for faculty and students.

The successful candidate will be appointed to the Department of Kinesiology in the Faculty of Human Kinetics. The Faculty comprises two program areas, namely the Department of Kinesiology and the Division of Athletics and Recreational Services. The Department of Kinesiology offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees with approximately 800 undergraduate and over 80 graduate students. Vibrant research and teaching cultures within Kinesiology facilitate high quality, student-centred learning experiences which are supported by state-of-the-art facilities. At the undergraduate level, students take a common core of Kinesiology courses in addition to related option courses prior to majoring in Movement Science or Sport Management. Graduate students can complete their program of study in either Applied Human Performance or Sport Management through a thesis or internship route at the Master's level and in Kinesiology at the Doctoral level. For more information about the Department of Kinesiology, visit our website at <http://www.uwindsor.ca/kinesiology>.

The successful candidate will hold a PhD in Kinesiology or a related field. The successful candidate will teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, contribute to graduate thesis and internship advisement, and conduct an externally funded research program. Candidates are expected to be able to demonstrate a record of, or show potential for, excellence in research and teaching in one or more of the following areas: exercise prescription for healthy (including elite athletes) and clinical populations, sport performance and analysis, and/or strength and conditioning.

Following the priorities of the University of Windsor, applicants will be required to create and sustain equitable and inclusive teaching and research environments. The Faculty of Human Kinetics is committed to scholarship and teaching about and engagement with Indigenous communities, women, racialized people, peoples with disabilities, and members of the LGBTQIA2S+ communities.

Application Requirements

- a letter of application, including a statement of citizenship/immigration status;
- a detailed and current curriculum vitae;
- a two (2) page outline of research interests and accomplishments, identifying the three most significant research contributions;
- samples of scholarly writing, including (if applicable) clear indications of your contribution to any jointly authored pieces;
- a teaching dossier or teaching portfolio demonstrating a potential for or evidence of teaching effectiveness and excellence that will include sample course syllabi/outlines, teaching evaluations, and a statement of teaching philosophy and interests (resources and templates for completing a teaching dossier can be found at <https://www.uwindsor.ca/ctl/502/teaching-dossiers>);
- graduate transcripts; and
- the names and contact details of three (3) academic referees.

Only those applicants selected for interview will be contacted. The short-listed candidates may be invited to provide further information in support of their applications. To ensure full consideration, complete an online application (<http://www.uwindsor.ca/facultypositions>) found on the job advertisement, and ensure letters of reference are submitted by the deadline date of February 26, 2022. Applications may be considered after the deadline date; however, acceptance of late submissions is at the discretion of the appointments committee.
